Bellamack Gardens Construction To Begin

Construction of Bellamack Gardens will begin in the coming weeks with local company Norbuilt winning the tender to build the 28 townhouses and units in the precinct.

The project is valued at over $7 million and it’s estimated that throughout construction 200 Territorians will be employed.

Acting Lands and Planning Minister Karl Hampton said Bellamack Gardens is one of many government initiatives which responds to the need for affordable housing options across the Territory.

“Already there has been significant community interest in Bellamack Gardens and I encourage anyone who is looking to get a foot in the door of the housing market to consider buying one of these units or townhouses,” said Mr Hampton.

“We are testing the market with this new product to determine if Bellamack Gardens can be used as a model for future housing options across the Territory.

“The Land Development Corporation project is on track to deliver this new housing alternative for Territorians by the end of the year.

“The Bellamack Gardens development has been approved by the Palmerston Development Consent Authority, and we are confident that local construction company Norbuilt will deliver the project on time.

“Norbuilt is a well established Territory business with a record of employing locals and using local subcontractors and suppliers.

“Delivering more land for development and more affordable housing alternatives is an absolute priority for this Government.”

Anyone who is interested in further details of the Bellamack Gardens project should contact the Land Development Corporation for more information.
