DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND FAMILIES

Making a difference in Aboriginal Health

If you want your career to go places then join Health and Families in the Northern Territory.

The challenges and opportunities in health and community care in the Territory are like no other in Australia, from remote Aboriginal health to tropical health and Australia’s National Critical Care and Trauma Response Centre. Continued investments in Aboriginal health, remote health, acute care, child protection and community services offer many opportunities for health professionals who want to be part of making a difference.

(employment package valued in the vicinity of $97,000) NS

Remote Health – Various locations

6 Temporary vacancies for 2 years are available.

New Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) Facilitator positions are being recruited to assist communities in both Central Australia and the Top End of the Northern Territory, by helping to strengthen the effectiveness of the remote health system and improve the management of chronic diseases. The new positions will contribute to the reform of remote health service delivery and will contribute to improved health outcomes for Aboriginal people.

Individual CQI Facilitators will assist the health centres and communities within one Health Service Delivery Area (HSDA). Each HSDA encompasses a number of communities to a total service population of approximately 3000 people.

This is a unique opportunity to bring your experience to the challenges of remote health care delivery.

Work to the quality agenda of Remote Health Branch and the Northern Territory CQI Planning Committee, to promote and coordinate improved Primary Health Care service and health outcomes in the HSDA.

Positions are available for the following HSDAs:

- Central Australia (North), based in Alice Springs
- East Arnhem (North), based in Gapuwiyak
- East Arnhem (South), based in Auyangula
