Theft wrecks holiday

BY ELLIE TURNER

A FAMILY’s car has been stolen with their one-year-old son’s birthday and Christmas presents still in the boot.

The crime comes as a bunch of low-lifes with no Christmas spirit plague Territory streets.

The spree included knife attacks, drunken assaults and robberies.

Steven Ling, 26, said all his one-year-old son’s birthday presents were in the car when the vehicle was stolen in Moulden, Palmerston, last Saturday.

His watch, sunglasses and iPad were also stolen from the car.

“It’s just a pain in the arse,” he said.

“We had to buy a new baby seat and pram straight away

plus replacing the baby items — left him $2000 out of pocket. “It’s not nice to have just before Christmas,” he said.

Police confirmed there were more than 40 burglaries in the week to yesterday.

The car was found at Wagaman on Monday.

Mr Ling said it looked like the car was taken on a joyride. “The seat was far enough forward to make me think a 10-year-old was driving,” he added.

Co-founder Paul Gurrum-

INDONESIAN FISHERMEN FACE COURT

FIVE Indonesians who were allegedly caught fishing illegally in NT waters will proceed to a three-day hearing next year.

Fishermen Darma Ardy, Nandi Boiling, Rustam Mahmud, Urrano Putra and Bahar Uook appeared in Darwin Magistrates Court charged with using a foreign boat for commercial fishing.

Mr Ardy was also charged with possessing fishing nets on the boat.

Commonwealth prosecutor Nicola MacArron said the men were found within the Australian Fishing Zone on November 25.

Magistrate Dick Wallace adjourned the matter for hearing in March.

THE FORTUNES of Darwin’s housing markets will reverse from their dismal performance with massive price growth predicted next year, a property researcher says.

Figures from the Australian Property Monitors predict a five to 10 per cent rise in Darwin next year.

Median house prices nationally should recover to rise by three to five per cent in the next year, the group said.
