The Northern Territory Government is investing $1.5 million to upgrade the Fogg Dam Conservation Reserve.

Member for Goyder, Ted Warren, said existing boardwalks at the reserve would be rebuilt to allow greater access to the reserve.

“Fogg Dam is a popular destination for both Territorians and visitors and the new boardwalk will allow people to have a greater appreciation of the unique environment of the area,” said Mr Warren.

“The floodplain surrounding Fogg Dam is a spectacular area abounding in unique flora and fauna.

“The wetlands have international significance because of their beauty, natural systems and importance to Aboriginal people.

“The reserve provides an important refuge for wildlife and is a great tourist attraction as it offers people the opportunity to experience a real Territory floodplain only a short distance from Darwin.

“The specifications of the $1.5 million tender ensure Territorians get the best value for money with a durable boardwalk that will withstand the wet and dry seasons in the Top End.”
