HERE COMES THE SUN

Anybody seeking further evidence of Labor’s laziness and inability to govern needed go no further than the Legislative Assembly just after half-past-six this evening.

Opposition Whip, Jodeen Carney, said the sight of the Legislative Assembly Chamber empty because business had wrapped up for the day confirmed Labor’s status as a disorganised rabble.

“For the first time in memory, Parliament shut down while the sun was still shining,” Ms Carney said.

“They had placed only a handful of items on the Notice Paper,” Ms Carney said.

“If it hadn’t been for the Opposition debating a Matter of Public Importance, the Assembly would have closed down at 5pm.

“In effect, Labor did about 4 hours work today. Their business ended at 4.05pm.

“Only a few months ago they added extra sitting days to the program. Given today’s appalling example, I’m wondering why on earth they did it.

“Last week, the Chief Minister said in the Assembly:

It's an honor and a privilege to be the Chief Minister and it's not a privilege I take lightly…

“Instead of mouthing hollow platitudes, the Chief Minister should practice what he preaches and actually roll up his sleeves and do some work.”
