Kings Canyon Creek Walk Gets An Upgrade

Another cycle of the continuing upgrades to the walking tracks at Central Australia’s Watarrka National Park has been completed.

Last September, $115,000 in Territory Government funded upgrades were completed at the park.

A further $28,500 has been now been spent on two other untouched sections of the Kings Canyon Creek Walk at the park, which is 450km south-west of Alice Springs. The upgrade will make for a safer and more accessible walking track that all ages and abilities can enjoy.

Parks and Wildlife Minister Alison Anderson urged Territorians and visitors to take some time to visit the park and enjoy the scenic walk.

“About 222,000 people visit Watarrka each year, and the Kings Canyon Creek Walk is a major attraction,” Ms Anderson said.

“It’s important that we keep these walking tracks in top condition so that people keep coming back to enjoy this beautiful place.”

The Kings Canyon Creek Walk is a 2.6 kilometres round trip, and takes about an hour to complete, taking in stunning views of the sheer canyon walls, majestic River Red gums and wildlife.

Ms Anderson said it was a great time of year to spend some time walking around the Territory’s parks.

“We have great weather at the moment and a range of walking tracks to cater for all people,” she said.
