Opposition Leader, Terry Mills, has travelled to Western Australia for talks with senior Government figures about the progress of the Ord Stage 2.

Mr Mills will tomorrow meet with Western Australian Premier, Colin Barnett, Nationals Leader and Regional Development Minister, Brendon Grylls and Agriculture Minister Terry Redman.

“I want a briefing on where Western Australia is with Ord Stage 2 and contrast that with the level of preparation in the Northern Territory,” Mr Mills said.

“I think it’s important to know exactly what’s required to progress this nation-building project in Western Australia and the Northern Territory.

“I’ve previously had high-level meetings with representatives of the previous Labor Government in Western Australia and while I’ve had conversations with the Liberals, this will be our first formal meetings to discuss this very important project.”

Mr Mills will return to Darwin on Thursday.
