To celebrate the Centenary of International Women’s Day, Darwin and Alice Springs Airports will display 50 posters of the recipients of the annual Tribute to Northern Territory Women Awards.

Minister for Women’s Policy, Malarndirri McCarthy, said it was a fantastic contribution by the Darwin and Alice Springs Airports to celebrate Territory women.

“Hundreds of people passed through our airports every day and this is a great opportunity to display the posters as part of the Territory’s contribution to mark this very important milestone,” said Minister McCarthy.

“These remarkable women – both past and present - deserve to be celebrated for their commitment to improving the lives of Territorians and for their invaluable contribution to the Northern Territory.”

“The displays will hang at the baggage carousel at the Darwin Airport and opposite the airline check in desks at the Alice Springs Airport throughout March and I encourage everyone to pay tribute to Territory women this year.

“Since 2003, a multitude of women have been recognised, including women from the pioneering days through to present day Territorians.”

The Tribute to Northern Territory Women posters will be displayed at the Darwin Airport from today, and at the Alice Springs Airport from the 28 February.
