TRIBUTE TO HANS VOS

16th January, 2013

The Chief Minister Terry Mills today paid tribute to one of the Territory’s most respected visionaries, Hans Vos, who died last night after a long illness.

“The Territory has lost one of its finest,” Mr Mills said.

“Hans was not only a fine architect but also a friend. He was also one of those unique characters – modest and wonderful company.

“Recently he was made an Honorary Fellow of the Australian Institute of Architects, which was a notable achievement but only confirmed what we have known for a very long time.

“Hans has had an important impact on our city and he was of course most remembered for being the driving force and designer behind the Cullen Bay development.

“But Cullen Bay was just one of his contributions to the Territory. His houses and buildings are easily recognisable.

“Hans will be sadly missed by all of us and our thoughts are with Barb and the family.”

Hans Vos was 70 years of age.
