ATTORNEY-GENERAL

ELFERINK TO OFFICIALLY OPEN LEGAL CONFERENCE

21 June 2013

Attorney-General John Elferink will officially open the fourteenth Criminal Lawyers Association of the Northern Territory (CLANT) conference in Indonesia.

Mr Elferink said more than 200 criminal practitioners from across Australia will attend the conference which is held biennially.

“I am honoured to officially open the conference and look forward to attending with people passionate in their chosen field of criminal law,” Mr Elferink said.

“The CLANT conference offers attendees an opportunity to learn, develop and network with professionals in the criminal law sector.

“Prominent criminal practitioners will address the conference including Chief Justice Trevor Riley and Counsel Melinda Taylor from the International Criminal Court at The Hague.

“This year’s conference will focus on victims in the criminal justice system including sessions of Women as Victims, Victims of War and Young People as Victims,” Mr Elferink said.

The Attorney-General will be accompanied on the visit by his advisor and will return to the Northern Territory on Monday.
