NTCET exams get underway

2 November 2015

Minister for Education Peter Chandler has wished Territory year 12 students all the best as their school education draws to an end.

Year 12 students will sit 2,625 written exams from today Monday 2 November to Wednesday 18 November in 25 schools across the Territory.

“I wish all our students the best of luck in the final tests of their schooling life – the Northern Territory Certificate of Education and Training (NTCET) exams,” Mr Chandler said.

“My message to students is to stay focused over the next two weeks but, to take care of yourselves, get plenty of sleep, maintain a balanced diet, keep up the exercise and ask for help if needed.

“Don’t forget that you have already undertaken so much of the work which will determine your final NTCET result in assessments completed during the year.”

The largest examinable subjects to be held in the Northern Territory include Mathematical Applications with 407 students expected to sit the exam from 25 schools, 251 students are expected to sit the Biology exam in 21 schools and 222 students expected to sit Chemistry exams in 21 schools.

Today, 193 students in 17 schools will kick off the start of exams with English Studies.

“My thoughts are with each of you, your life isn’t defined by these exams, give it your best shot, your best days are yet to come,” Mr Chandler said.

Students will receive their NTCET results on Tuesday 15 December 2015.
