Territorians won’t forget CLP Betrayal

Territorians won’t be fooled by Adam Giles’ desperate bid to try and and make up for the betrayal of trust on cost of living three and a half years ago, said Territory Labor Leader Michael Gunner.

“It’s simply too little too late, and Adam has hurt Territorians too much for too long,” Mr Gunner said.

“The CLP broke Territorians’ trust when they increased the cost of power by 30% and water by 40% after promising Territorians they’d reduce the cost of living if elected.

“The average Territory family now pays an extra $2300 per year since the CLP broke their promise.

“For Adam Giles to expect Territorians to be grateful for a 5% drop just before an election and after three and a half years of pain is a bit of a joke – he is treating Territorians like fools.

“Territorians know his latest move is nothing more than another attempt by Adam Giles to buy people's votes.

“Between now and the election Territorians can expect a desperate spending spree by the CLP from the money made by selling our TIO and our Port.

“Before the next election, my team and I will release a package which will reduce cost of living pressures Territorians face day-in and day-out.

“The CLP can’t be trusted on power prices. They can't be trusted to keep their promises. They can't be trusted to Govern. Territory Labor is ready to Govern,” Mr Gunner said.
