Three heats of this terrific TO to T1 series were staged 12 days back and of the three preliminary winners the only one almost guaranteed to occupy the same role that they did when saluting is YANKEE REDBACK (3). Always a talented horse, he was having his first start for new handler Mick Bellman there and the way he pinged to the top and slipped away when required could scarcely have been more impressive. If he leads as expected again here then the race is on his racquet though ON FAST FORWARD (13) has a class edge on these and can quickly negate his handicap so obviously looms as the clear and present danger. Each Way cases can be made for plenty outside the top pair headed by the MELPARK MAGIC (2), PRETTY LITTLE LUCY (10) and ALDEBARAN PRINCE (5).

SPARKLING SUCCESS 1, Kyvalley Blur 2, Sundons Courage 3, Courchevel 4.

SPARKLING SUCCESS (7) is likely to have a major American assignment coming up in mid-October so he could be forgiven for being run or three short first-up today but with the phenomenal class edge he has on most of these it would not surprise if Snooze Svanosio balanced him up, put the foot down and pushed on to find the lamplighting role. If that happened he'd be near on unbeatable but with his exceptional record from the breeze he'd still be the testing material parked out in transit. Indeed the only serious threat would be ageless speed machine KYVALLEY BLUR (8) who could win anything anywhere if the tempo suits his style though SUNDONS COURAGE (6) is close enough to these in ability that he could cause an upset if the cards all fell his way. The rest are racing for minor money only though COURCHEVEL (2) has always had more than her fair share of ability and was very good winning a much easier race last time out.

SO TICKLE ME PINK 1, Always Ready 2, Majestuoso 3, Emerald Stride 4.

As Victoria's only remaining feature juvenile squaregaiting event from the stand, the Redwood Classic is usually one of the most delightfully unpredictable races of any code on the local calendar. This year is no different. In total, up to nine of the 12 engaged runners can win though the best of those hopes is the Kiwi SO TICKLE ME PINK (8). Unlike some years SO TICKLE ME PINK (8) isn't a dominant performer back home with exposed experience from the strands but rather an untapped talent with no form from the tapes who was beating up on small fields in the North Island before getting it all wrong at the start on Jewels Day at Cambridge. The major factors playing in his favour here are the speed he's shown (already rating 2:00.4 at Cambridge), the fact that Australia doesn't have a standout baby trotter of their own and, of course, the Ice man Tony Herlihy. As mentioned above however there are any number of dangers, the greatest of which is clearly ALWAYS READY (7) who beat many of these in his dominant Vicbred Super Series success and who has already shown at the trials he can build momentum quickly from the strands. In terms of natural speed and ability MAJESTUOSO (9) - who has really pinged from the tapes at trial level - might very well be the benchmark so he also goes in the mix along with the exciting EMERALD STRIDE (12) and local talents ARCHLEO (5) and also QUICK ANDOVER (13). The race doesn't end there either but your capacity to make money from it might if you throw too many more runners in the fray.

UNE BELLE ALLURE 1, Myrtle Vale 2, Andyou 3, Derrie Aire 4.

Some exceptional opening quarters can be carved out from the 1609m start and with the huge injection of gate speed drawn off the front row here expect them to really burn up through the formative 400m here today. Typically when that happens in races with huge class disparities like this the cream rises to the top and we're hoping that favours UNE BELLE ALLURE (11). Anton Golino's former megastar filly had one of her greatest triumphs on this day last year when winning the Derby and while she has struggled a little to acclimatise to open age racing her best is still very good and if she's allowed to wind up off a sizzling tempo she may well blow these away. The major threat is probably MYRTLE VALE (4) who shouldn't get heavily involved in the early speed duel as she's rarely seen a front line draw in her life and can over-race at the drop of a hat. She is super strong however and must be considered for Quads along with Super Series eye-catcher and impressive last start winner ANDYOU (8), the underrated DERRIE AIRE (9) and ALDEBARAN EVE (10) who has as much talent as anything but isn't quite hitting the high notes at the minute.

STRESS FACTOR 1, Scallywag Sam 2, Reils 3, Anywhere Hugo 4.

The time honoured Victoria Trotters Derby might be staged over the gruelling 2690m journey but the result of its 2018 renewal may come down to the first 300m. Plainly put, if STRESS FACTOR (3) can hold SCALLYWAG SAM (5) wide into the first turn then apply the acid to REILS (1) and lay claims on the lead then this should be a Derby of little mid-race pressure dominated by the trio referenced above. If - and this could happen - SCALLYWAG SAM (5) gets across STRESS FACTOR (3) early then the TAB fave has his issues and they may run this along. Because the former scenario is so much more likely STRESS FACTOR (3) rates clearly on top here after some wonderful Kiwi performances and a dominant first-up win in Oz despite looking very scratchy in his action late. Due to the lack of obvious pressure SCALLYWAG SAM (5) remains the major danger even if he's parked in transit while REILS (1) - who has any amount of early top and was huge in the Super Series final - is the one who may get under everybody's guard. If there's more mid-race heat than imagined then the ultra-classy ANYWHERE HUGO (13) will obviously benefit greatly and the only other small winning hopes are last start eye-catcher MAJESTIC PLAYER (10), the heavily spruiked SUCCESS COUNTS (6) and also KYVALLEY FINN (2).

PARISIAN AMORE (2) won't know herself back to this grade after taking on some serious guns first up and with the lead hers for the taking the race should be as well. Given her record when receiving economical trips FEAR NOT (1) goes in as second pick from the trail but from a class perspective the major players are ALDEBARAN PETE (13) and VARIANCE (10) along with ROSEHILL MAGIC (4).
