The Territory Government today announced that the first Darwin based Cabinet meeting, conducted outside of Parliament House, would be held in Parap tomorrow.

Chief Minister Clare Martin said the meeting was yet another step in delivering on the promise to represent all Territorians and take government to the people.

"The seven Government Ministers will meet with local business and community groups in my Parap electorate office during the Cabinet day," she said.

"This is the perfect opportunity for Parap business people to meet Ministers face-to-face and discuss issues, or voice any concerns, they may have.

"In recent years, this level of contact with Ministers has been sorely missing - a situation we are working hard to change."

Ms Martin said Government had conducted Community Cabinet meetings in Nhulunbuy, Alice Springs, Tennant Creek and Yulara with more than 30 planned for this term in office.

"We will also hold Community Cabinet meetings across Darwin including the northern suburbs, Palmerston and the rural area, to provide access to our Ministers for as many people as possible."

Ms Martin also announced that she would be holding regular Sunday morning meetings in her electorate office to allow more people, and organisations, direct access to the Chief Minister.
