If the CLP, with the help of CLP "independent" candidates, wins Government this Saturday Territorians should brace themselves for an unprecedented outbreak of government reviews, Leader of Government Business Paul Henderson said.

"The scale of the reviews the CLP want to carry out range from massive—like the review of all public service programs affecting 16,000 public sector employees announced yesterday—to ones targeting specific areas, like the review of the Summary offences Act announced in August 2004,” said Mr Henderson.

“The most high profile review will involve a full examination of the Waterfront and Convention Centre which Denis Burke announced on the first day of the election campaign.

“This review will stall the project and put over 1,000 local jobs at risk.”

Other reviews the CLP is committed to include the following topics:

- Rail infrastructure (26/7/2004)
- PowerWater (19/4/04)
- Stamp Duty (24/11/2004)
- Nuclear waste (14/7/2004)
- Police powers (21/12/2004)
- All Territory taxes (18/2/2004)
- Gaming (24/6/2004)
- Police complaints (21/12/2004)
- Mining (11/2/2005)
- Parks Estate (5/10/2004)
- Health Department (19/5/04)

“On top of these, Burke announced yesterday there will be a review of each Government agency every three years - this will add up to at least 16 extra reviews.

“All this should send a shiver down the spine of all Territorians—especially the 16,000 public sector workers – who will be at the forefront of the review mania that will start on Monday if Denis Burke wins.”
