Call for Toyne to present 'findings'
14 July 2004

Shadow Attorney-General Jodeen Carney has called on Peter Toyne to release what he describes as the ‘findings’ of the Information Commissioner into the release of personnel files of two public servants.

Ms Carney said she received a letter from the Commissioner earlier this week and he made NO findings at all in relation to the release of the files.

“I spoke to the Information Commissioner who confirmed to me that he did not make a finding,” Ms Carney said.

“If the Attorney says the Information Commissioner made findings, then he should release those to the public. He won't because there are NO findings.

“Peter Toyne continues to beg the question. He is so desperate to weasel out of taking responsibility for this mess, that he has resorted to just making things up.”

She said the Attorney-General continues to ignore the facts when making claims in his media releases.

“The Supreme Court did NOT rule on the issue, and the Information Commissioner has NOT made any findings. This means public servants are still worried about their files being released”, she said.

“People's files were obtained without their consent and well-before the issue was even discussed in the Supreme Court. How and why were the files released, and who authorised their release?”
