This Friday, 4th August, is the Grand Opening of Greening Australia’s (NT) newly acquired nursery. This is an exciting endeavour as it is the first permanent base for Greening Australia in the 23 years that it has been serving the NT community.

The nursery is situated on eight hectares of land with some fantastic stands of remnant bushland. This property will give Greening Australia an opportunity to showcase how beautiful and low maintenance many native plants are and demonstrate their use in display gardens and landscaping. And of course there will be a large variety of local native plants and unusual plants from remote bush nurseries available to the community, land managers and local nurseries.

In the future Greening Australia hope to establish a community resource centre at the site where we will provide land management field days and establish best practice demonstration sites in fire, weed and revegetation techniques. Incorporation of the Aboriginal use of plants and land management techniques will be included. The centre will be integral in raising environmental awareness in the community.

Mr Gerry Wood, Independent member for Nelson, will officially open the nursery.

When: Friday 4th August 2006 at 4 pm

Where: 125 Thorak Rd, Knuckey Lagoons

More information: please call Mike Clark, Chief Executive Officer, 8981 1344