Health Careers & Opportunities in the Northern Territory

If you want your career to go places then join Health and Families in the Northern Territory. The challenges and opportunities in health and community care in the Territory are like no other in Australia, from remote Aboriginal health to tropical health and Australia’s National Critical Care and Trauma Response Centre. Continuous investments in Aboriginal health, remote health, acute care, child protection and community services offer many opportunities for health professionals who want to be part of making a difference.

REMOTE HEALTH

COMMUNITY GENERAL PRACTITIONER
Senior Rural Medical Practitioner Level 13 – Level 16 ($135,092 - $155,738) salary range
(Employment package up to $251,000) Level 13
(Employment package up to $279,000) Level 16

This includes SRMP allowance, RMP inaccessibility allowance, salary sacrifice, retention allowance, professional training allowance, Fires Out of Related Localities (FOL), subsidised accommodation, superannuation, study leave, 6 weeks recreation leave and annual leave bonus.

Top End Remote Health – Borroloola, Gapuwiyak and Gakoe Eylundt

Three temporary contracts for 2 - 5 years are available

Vacancies are available in the Top End of the Northern Territory for experienced general practitioners with rural medical experience or qualifications, to live and work in remote communities as part of a multi-disciplinary primary health care team.

You will be responsible for clinical and public health services to remote Aboriginal communities and their outstations. You will work in a team with resident Aboriginal health workers and remote area nurses, and in the larger communities, other resident GPs. Support is provided by visiting GP and specialist medical services, as well as a range of allied health. Telephone consultations are available to both the GP and the rest of the primary health care team, and ensure that the workload for solo GPs is sustainable. Emergency medical retrievals are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Depending on location, Katherine or Gove Hospitals provide secondary care and Royal Darwin Hospital is the destination for tertiary care. Your professional and management support base will be in Darwin, which you will visit regularly.

Based in Borroloola

One of 3 GPs in a team servicing two health centres and several outstations and cattle properties, with a regional population of around 1500.

Based in Gapuwiyak

Position for an experienced GP with a team of Aboriginal Health Workers and Remote Area Nurses, servicing a population of around 1200 including several outstations.

Based in Gakoe Eylundt

One of 3 GPs providing a service to the 5 health centres, 3 communities on Groote Eiland and 3 communities nearby Bickerton Island and Numbulwar on the mainland, with a population of around 3500.

Successful applicants will have a medical degree eligible for national registration, a current driver’s licence and experience or interest in Aboriginal health. International medical graduates must meet the qualifications and experience criteria specified by the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency. Those seeking vocational training with either Royal Australian College of General Practitioners or Australian College of Rural and Remote Medicine are advised that posts in these locations have been eligible for support from the Remote Vocational Training Scheme.
