BORIS DROPS BY KAKADU, ARNHEM LAND

London Mayor Boris Johnson and his family dropped by Arnhem Land and Kakadu last week as part of their northern Australia sojourn.

The touring party, led by guide Sab Lord, stopped by Injalak Arts in Gunbalanya on Saturday, viewing the locally made Aboriginal artworks, prints and artefacts.

Gunbalanya resident Christine Noppobob said it was a real treat to have Boris and his family visit.

“Yes, he really seemed to enjoy the place,” Ms Noppobob said.

“He came here with the family, they looked around the arts centre, and then climbed Injalak Hill.

“He said it was a very beautiful place, lots of escarpments…”

“Everyone enjoyed having him come and look around.”

WEST ARNHEM SHIRE COUNCILLED ON NEW NAME

West Arnhem Shire Council will most likely be renamed West Arnhem Regional Council, in a move the Northern Territory Government says will help give people back their voice in local government.

Local Government Minister Alison Anderson will also require certain towns and communities to establish Local Authorities, which are similar to Local Boards that currently exist in Gunbalanya, Minjilang, Warruwi and Maningrida.

Notice of Work

The Director of National Parks is continuing with an asbestos remediation program at a number of Kakadu National Park houses in Jabiru during 2013. An important part of the planning for this project is to ensure that the whole community is aware of what will be happening.

The program involves the removal of bonded fibre cement sheet from the eaves, carports and internal wet areas of Parks’ properties in Jabiru.

During the period between August and October 2013, the following Jabiru properties will be included in the programme:

- 6 Broad Place
- 13 Carrington Place
- 129 Civic Drive
- 6 Frew Place
- 16 Harden Place
- 5 Nash Place
- 5 Melaleuca Place
- 2 Paddy Place
- 2 Roper Place

The health and safety standards that will be used during this project exceed the minimum requirements of the National Code of Practice for the safe removal of asbestos (How to Safely Remove Asbestos 2011). All material being removed is in good condition and presents a minimal risk from airborne fibres.

An exclusion zone around the work area will be established for safety and each neighbouring property lies outside of the exclusion zone. During this time, perimeter fencing and warning signs will be established around each property and monitoring for airborne fibres will be conducted by an occupational hygienist.

The removal of asbestos at each property is anticipated to take up to 5 days and the building renovation phase should take an additional 2 weeks.

All neighbouring residents will be notified in writing and by the contractors prior to the removal phase. If you have any concerns or questions regarding the planned work, please contact the Director of National Parks project manager:

HISTORIC LAND TRANSFER DECADENCES IN THE MAKING:
JABIRU & KAKADU

More than 5,500 hectares of land surrounding the township of Jabiru was transferred back to its Traditional Owners last week, as the finalisation of one of the nation’s longest native title claims edges closer.

Representatives of the Mirrar people, including Annie Ngalmirama, joined Federal Indigenous Health Minister Warren Snowdon and community members at the handing-over ceremony on Thursday last week.

The title deeds, transferred under the Aboriginal Land Rights Act, cover land to the west and south of the township of Jabiru, and a small parcel of land near the Jabiru industrial area.

Ms Ngalmirama said the transfer has been well-received.

“For a long time we have been sitting here, and today we are happy,” Ms Ngalmirama said.

The parcels of land will be immediately leased back to Kakadu National Park.

Gundjeihmi Aboriginal Corporation CEO Justin O’Brien said the transfer was an historic occasion.

“There has been a milestone in this long-running battle over 15-16 years,” Mr O’Brien said.

“Kakadu National Park gets bigger… and Mirrar ownership is recognised.”

A future deed covering the Jabiru town land is still being negotiated, with the Northern Territory Government and Northern Land Council still to agree on leaseback arrangements.

Mr Snowdon said this transfer of the deed represented approximately 80% of the Mirrar native title claim.

“This The Jabiru native title claim dates back to 1997, and is the longest unsettled native title claim in the Northern Territory,” Mr Snowdon said.

STALLHOLDERS CALLED FOR MAHBILIL FESTIVAL

Mahbilil Festival organisers are calling for stallholders for this year’s festival.

This year’s festival will be held on Saturday 14th September.

To register as a stallholder you need to fill out the registration forms available online at http://mahbililfestival.com/participate/

Stallholders need to ensure they meet the minimum health standards which are also available online.

People can also nominate to be volunteers.

For more information, email mahbililfestival@gmail.com or phone 0410602285.

West Arnhem Shire Council will also run the popular Gurrung Sports Carnival, which brings sporting teams from all West Arnhem Land communities to Jabiru, over the same weekend.
JAMALAK FESTIVAL
16 & 17 AUGUST 2013

A remote Arnhem Land island community has celebrated its unique history and culture at their largest annual event.

The Jamalak Festival was held last Friday and Saturday on Warruwi, South Goulburn Island.

The festival committee would like to thank the Warruwi School, West Arnhem Shire Council, and every member of the community who helped make this year’s festival a success.

There was plenty to celebrate as NT favourites B2M took to the stage alongside local bands and acts.

The basketball and AFL competitions were fought out between local teams and from the neighbouring Croker Island.

SHIRES COUNCILLED OVER NEW NAME: MINISTER EXPLAINS LOCAL GOVERNMENT REFORMS

LETTER TO THE EDITOR: This week I introduced a Bill to amend the Local Government Act which will give voices back to people living in regional parts of the Territory.

This is the first step in what will be journey towards local government that will be more responsive, more representative and more sustainable. When the Super Shires were imposed on the bush there was an outcry, people felt like their community had lost their voice in the vastness of the Shires.

Through our reforms, newly established Local Authorities appointed by each community will be given power through Ministerial Guidelines and will play an active role in their community. Local Authorities will be the key to connecting people to Regional Councils. Local Authorities will be involved in interview processes, planning and spending, act as a complaints mechanism for council issues and where people request it, they can also be delegated additional duties from the council or Minister.

I understand there is a hunger for more immediate change, namely boundary changes, however it is critical that we get these reforms right, not just right now. That is why I am acting on the strong recommendation from the Regional Governance Working Group to review the sustainability and viability of regional governance. We want to do this once and we want to do it properly.

It is my vision that we develop a model of regional governance that will empower and engage local communities so they can identify their own economic and social opportunities and elevate some of the disadvantage.

Alison Anderson, Minister for Local Government, Local Government Reform

SNACKS O’LIVE IN KAKADU
A 3m olive python paid tourists and staff at Bowali Visitors Centre a friendly visit this week.

Last week a 3.4m skin from the same species of snake was discovered in the Jabiru town water supply.

Kakadu National Park staff have received numerous reports of snakes from visitors, Jabiru locals and rangers.

Forward your snake stories and images to the Kakadu National Park facebook page at www.facebook.com/KakaduNationalPark.

KAKADU FLOWS ‘INTO THE BLOODSTREAM’
Archie Roach will perform his ‘Into the bloodstream’ concert this Sunday 25 August at 8pm at The Amphitheatre, George’s Green, as part of the Darwin Festival. Visit www.darwinfestival.org.au for more information.

National cultural icon Archie Roach left Jabiru with much more than he came with after recruiting local talent for his upcoming performance at the Darwin Festival.

The revered songman visited Djidbidjidji Residential College earlier this month for a family cultural event.

Students from West Arnhem College and communities around Jabiru will now join Mr Roach onstage in his much-anticipated ‘Into the bloodstream’ performance Sunday as part of the Darwin Festival.

Another Jabiruvian, Veronica Wellings, will also take to the stage.

“I’ve performed with Archie a few times before, and (we’re) looking forward to Sunday night’s performance,” Ms Wellings said.

“The choir is made up of students from the Jabiru school and local communities...”

Voting Business: How to make your vote count

When you go to vote in a federal election you will be given some voting papers to fill out.

Green paper - House of Representatives

On this paper you will see all the names of the people who want you to vote for them:

- Choose which person you want to speak for you in parliament and write a number 1 in the square beside their name.
- Then choose your number 2, then number 3 and keep going until every name has a number in the square beside it and you are finished.

White paper - Senate

There are 2 ways to vote on the Senate Paper.

You choose the way you want to vote, and vote only that way.

There is a big line across the paper that separates the 2 ways.

(1) Above the Line

To vote this way:

- Choose the group you want to speak for you in the Senate.
- Write the number 1 in the square above their name and you are finished.

OR

(2) Below the Line

To vote this way:

- Put a number 1 in the square beside the person you most want;
- Then choose your number 2, then number 3 and keep going until every name has a number in the square beside it and you are finished.

Authorised by Robert Pugsley, Australian Electoral Commission, Darwin.
Mr Johnson has been holidaying in northern Australia and will make a keynote appearance at the Melbourne Writer’s Festival.

The Johnson family spent just over a week touring Kakadu and Arnhem Land, partly with local guide Sab Lord.

“The family enjoyed a private sunset Yellow Waters Cruise, and we did Arnhem Land with a local Aboriginal guide,” Mr Lord said.

“The next day we went down to Maguk (in Kakadu National Park), and Boris wanted to stay out in the bush.

Mr Lord said the rambunctious Mayor was impressed with Injalak’s display, and also with local tour providers.

“It actually impressed him more than he thought, particularly the way some (tour providers) work with the local Aboriginal population.”

Meanwhile other residents of Gunbalanya sought to show the visiting Brits their craftsmanship.

West Arnhem Shire Council staff have been assisting a group of Gunbalanya men to refine their carpentry skills by creating functional furniture.

The turtle shaped tables, bars and benches have been personally crafted from locally sourced timbers, and were taken to Injalak for the Mayor’s visit.

A friend of Mr Johnson’s flew into Gunbalanya earlier that week, before Mr Johnson’s visit, in his private helicopter with a view to inspect the unique furniture.

GUNBALANYA WINS PICASSO COW COMP

STUDENTS CAN’T HIDE THEIR DELIGHT

Primary students from West Arnhem College Gunbalanya entered – and took out first place in - Dairy Australia’s ‘Picasso Cow’ competition.

The students’ entry was judged against other schools in the Darwin region.

The students were required to design and paint a life-size fibre-grass cow.

They learnt how to paint and were able to apply these skills to something of real purpose and meaning.

Through the project students also learnt about the dairy industry and why dairy is so important in their everyday diet.

Students got to taste lots of various cheese, yoghurt and milkshakes which many of them had never tasted before.

Well done to the Gunbalanya students for your first-grass effort!

STUDENTS CAN’T HIDE THEIR DELIGHT

The Gundjeihmi Aboriginal Corporation (GAC) works and operates in the beautiful surrounds of Kakadu National Park. The GAC was formed by the local traditional custodians, the Mirarr, to address the cultural, social and economic future of their people, their land and their region. This position has been created to extend the visionary work of the organisation which is addressing the future for the children, families and lands of local Indigenous peoples.

Executive Assistant to the CEO

Jabiru

Excellent remuneration package up to $86,000 per annum, depending on experience, plus salary sacrifice and performance bonus.

The Executive Assistant to the CEO will provide professional and confidential secretarial and administrative support to the Chief Executive Officer. The successful applicant will assist in the provision of an effective administration support service throughout the organisation, in cooperation with the Operations Manager, through effective coordination and communication.

Applications close Friday 30 August 2013. For a detailed job description and selection criteria please contact Mahima Matta on (08) 8979 2200 or mahima@mirarr.net. Applicants must address the selection criteria and nominate at least two referees. Applications should be addressed to:

David Vadiveloo, Acting Chief Executive Officer
Gundjeihmi Aboriginal Corporation
PO Box 245, Jabiru, NT 0886

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are encouraged to apply. Equal Opportunity in Employment is GAC Policy.

DOG REGOS DUE: JABIRU

Dog registration fees for the 2013-14 financial year are now due.

It is important you know it is an offence to keep an unregistered dog in Jabiru.

West Arnhem Shire Council can impose fines for unregistered dogs kept in yards and can also seize registered or unregistered dogs which are not properly secured.

If this occurs, all applicable fees need to be paid before the dog can be released from the pound.

Each household may keep up to two dogs.

To pay your fees, visit the Shire office in the Jabiru Town Plaza.
Learner drivers in Maningrida will now have access to an extra vehicle, cutting waiting times for a vital driver training program.

Chief Minister Adam Giles handed over the keys to a former NT Fleet 2008 Toyota Landcruiser as a gift to the Maningrida School for use as part of the DriveSafe NT Remote program last week.

“This program is changing lives and changing communities,” Mr Giles said.

“Having a licence is so important as it helps people get a job and move around the Territory safely. It’s a ticket to independence.

“The vehicle we’ve handed over today will be used by local mentor drivers and the DriveSafe NT Remote Driving instructor for training. It will also be used for provisional licence testing by the DriveSafe NT Remote team.”

There is currently only one suitable vehicle for training purposes. There’s been such huge interest that a second vehicle is needed to meet participant numbers.

Arafura MLA Francis Xavier said it was anticipated that up to 500 people in Maningrida would train for a C class licence through the program.

“So far 80 learner licences and six provisional licences have been issued in Maningrida since the program officially began in May this year,” Mr Xavier said.

Chief Minister Adam Giles was in Maningrida last week.

Minister for Young Territorians Peter Styles is encouraging local organisations to get involved in providing fun and safe events for youth through the Youth Vibe Holiday Grant Program.

Mr Styles said the Youth Vibe Holiday Grant Program aims to provide opportunities for young people to have fun and develop new skills during the Territory school holidays.

“I believe young people are our investment in the future,” he said.

“They’re a vital part of what makes the Territory a vibrant and dynamic place.

Applications are open for grants that encourage local youth to participate in drug and alcohol free events and development programs during the December 2013/January 2014 school holidays.

The program offers grants of up to $2000 for events that promote healthy choices among young people and offer development in areas such as self-esteem, team building, career and leadership.

Applications close 30 August 2013.

The last Youth Vibe Holiday Grant Round saw 57 grants allocated across the Territory, for events during the 2013 June/July school holidays.

INJALAK DUO IN TELSTRA FINAL

Two artists from Injalak Arts in Gunbalanya have been selected as finalists in this year’s prestigious Telstra National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Art Award.

Celebrating its 30th Anniversary, the NATSIAA showcases the best Indigenous art from around Australia and is on display at the Museum and Art Gallery of the Northern Territory until Sunday 10th November.

Fibre artist Alicia Marrday’s ‘Bush Turkey, Cockatoo and Bush String Bags’ was selected as one of the 77 finalists.

The artwork consisted of three exquisitely made feather and manbudbud ceremonial string dilly bags.

This is the first year Alicia has entered the award and she was extremely proud to see her artwork on display at the museum.

Alicia attended the opening ceremony and award presentation with two of her aunties, Garnbaladj and Robyn Nabegeyo, who are also well known weavers from Gunbalanya.

NATSIAA perennial finalist Glen Namundja’s work ‘Kinga and Namarnkol’ executed in natural ochres on arches watercolour paper was a very fine example of the high standard of work being created by Injalak artists.

Injalak Arts was represented at the recent Darwin Aboriginal Art Fair held at the Darwin Convention Centre, with both finalists demonstrating their exemplary skills in weaving and painting as part of the artist workshop program.
