Huxley adds bite to Browns

 FORMER Wallaby Julian Huxley will be in Darwin playing rugby over Australia Day long weekend.

 The Country King Browns have secured Huxley’s services to complete their 12 man squad for the next Hinkedin Hottest 7 at Rugby Park, Marrara. Huxley made his Super Rugby debut for the Queensland Reds in 2003. His Reds season was successful and he won the Pilecki Medal as player of the year.

 At the end of 2004 he went to New Zealand to play for Northland. He returned to Super Rugby in 2005, and subsequently played every match of the season.

 After the Reds’ 2006 season, Huxley joined the Brumbies. On March 4, 2008, the Brumbies announced Huxley was to be suffering from a benign brain tumour. He had surgery which was successful and in March 2010, Huxley gained medical clearance to resume playing.

 Huxley then signed with the Melbourne Rebels in May 2010. Rebels head coach Rod Macquisten said at the time: “Julian has shown great form since his return.”

 “He brings with him a fantastically attuned attitude to life and the game we can all learn from.”

 “He is an intelligent player who will make a significant contribution to the Rebels.”

 “Huxley’s reported motivation to move to Melbourne is to start a new chapter in his life.”

 “We’re very happy to have Julian on board,” Macquisten said.
