Scene in Alice

The 17th Annual Geoscience Exploration Seminar was held in Alice Springs this week. AGES is a technical conference that presents an opportunity for mining industry professionals to access the latest in fresh exploration ideas and scientific data from the Territory. The seminar presented geoscience results generated from the NT Government’s four-year, $23.8 million Creating Opportunities for Resource Exploration (CORE) initiative. The program included technical presentations on recent exploration results from companies including Teck Australia, Santos, Newmont, Pangaea Resources, Independence Group, Newmarket Gold, Origin Energy, KGL Resources and Emmerson Resources. It covered commodities including zinc, oil and gas, copper and gold.

Darryl Wilson and Jason Morgan of Northline with Paul Hummel and Geoff Dunn of Terrex Australia.

Murray Wells and Steve Johnson from XM Logistics.

Dave Batic and Fiona McCabe from Alice Springs Airport.

Maddi Bolton and Stephan Ings from TJM.

Thrifty’s Steve Shearer and Leon Richards of McConnell Dowell.

CSIRO’s Sam Spinks and Tony Martin from Daylight Jack Minerals.

Clive Foss of CSIRO with David Downey of Bowgan Minerals.

Department of Business staff Julie Rannard and Adriana Schembri.

Mark Wardrop and Davy Maddick-Semal of Chartair.