Garlic, the great all-rounder

As the plants mature close to harvest time, garlic can be harvested. Gardeners will have to plant several bulbs at the same time to ensure a steady supply.

Garlic will grow in a wide range of soils, however it prefers high organic matter and is well-aged manure prior to planting.

In Greece, Germany, Scandinavia and China, garlic has been grown but highly beneficial medicinal properties. Ancient peoples around the world, including the Egyptians, Greeks and Romans, used garlic for its medicinal properties.

Garlic has a long history of use in medicine, and its use dates back to ancient Egypt. Garlic was used to treat a variety of ailments, including hypertension, heart disease and fungal and bacterial infections.

Garlic, artichokes, asparagus, rhubarb and many other plants are still being used for their medicinal properties.

The much underrated garlic is good value for many uses. One raw garlic clove a day is said to guard against high blood pressure, heart disease and was hung as a bouquet to ward off the aphids common at this time of the year.

Contact Central Australian Relocations for a free quote in your home, or for your convenience, complete the online quotation request at www.carelocations.net.au.

“Your possessions are ours to manage, (safely and securely), no matter how far you are moving,” a company spokesman said.

“Central Australian Relocations provides the protection necessary to avoid any damage all the way to your destination. No job is too small and Central Australian Relocations will handle all of your possessions with the respect they deserve. Each item is individually wrapped and treated as if our own with full protection from damage.

“All loose items can be packed securely into suitable cartons with an efficiency unparallelled locally with short or long distance travel in mind.”

Relocation services in Alice Springs, Northern Territory, Central Australian Relocations is the team to trust.

 MOVING home, whether it’s in the Territory or interstate, is often a demanding chore. But help is available. Central Australian Relocations provides a hassle-free furniture removalist service. Alice Springs based, it is your best choice for moving interstate or within the Northern Territory. A fortuitously run from Adelaide to Darwin also incorporates service to all country towns and remote areas. It also does local moves and office relocations, that would be great.

Contact Central Australian Relocations for a free quotation in your home, or for your convenience, complete the online quotation request at www.carelocations.net.au.

“Your possessions are ours to manage, (safely and securely), no matter how far you are moving,” a company spokesman said.

“Central Australian Relocations provides the protection necessary to avoid any damage all the way to your destination. No job is too small and Central Australian Relocations will handle all of your possessions with the respect they deserve. Each item is individually wrapped and treated as if our own with full protection from damage.

“All loose items can be packed securely into suitable cartons with an efficiency unparallelled locally with short or long distance travel in mind.”

“Let Central Australian Relocations move the worry from your next shift, a trust that cannot be bought.”

Contact Central Australian Relocations on 8952 7789.